HONGKONG, APRIL 17th, 1893.

The mortality returns attached to the Sanitary Superintendent's annual report show the death rate recorded last year to have been smaller than it has ever been before during the time the records have been kept in their present form. The following figures give the death rate during the last seven years amongst the British and Foreign community (civil), and the Chinese community—

	British and Foreign.	Chinese.
1886	22.7	25.3
1887	22.7	25.3
1888	22.7	25.3
1889	22.7	25.3
1890	22.7	25.3
1891	22.7	25.3
1892	22.7	25.3

The principal decrease as compared with last year appears under the heading Fever (182) and Bowel Complaints (192).
Mr. McCALLUM attributes an interesting paragraph to the decrease in the deaths from fever, in which he points out that whereas it is generally believed that soil disturbance is one of the principal factors in the causation of malarial fevers, during last year there was a great deal of soil disturbance, more especially in Kowloon, and yet the deaths recorded from fevers were less than usual.

"It is perfectly clear," he says, "that some important factor in the causation of malarial fevers has been during 1892 less powerful than usual, and it is quite evident that that factor is not that a smaller quantity than usual of soil disturbance has taken place." What the factor was Mr. McCALLUM does not venture to suggest.
Possibly the improved system of drainage may have had something to do with the matter.
Taking the total decrease in the death rate as compared with what it was five and six years ago we must not doubt assume that the improved water supply, the improved drainage, and the general advance that has been made in the sanitation of the Colony are in the main responsible for it. The result is a very gratifying one and the Sanitary Department may fairly be congratulated upon it.
At the present time we are once more suffering from a water famine, and the drains in places small as bad as they did in the presentation days, but these evils are now only of occasional occurrence, lasting for comparatively brief periods, instead of being chronic, and after the experience of the present season the water supply will no doubt be as well husbanded as to prevent the recurrence of scarcity in so acute a form.

The mortality statistics attached to Mr.
McCALLUM's report may be taken as reliable for the purpose of comparing one year with another, as the defects in their compilation may be looked upon as a constant quantity, they are very far from accurate as regards the cause of death amongst the Chinese, and with reference to the boat population they are probably also inaccurate as regards the totals. For instance, in the Victoria registration district, the death rate of the boat population last year was 23.9 and that of the boat population 7.3, while at Kowloon the death rate of the land population was 14 and that of the boat population 25. At Shaukiwan and Aberdeen also the death rate of the boat population was considerably in excess of that of the land population, while at Stanley the figures were, for the land population 82.6, and for the boat population 12.3. These same remarkable variations occur year after year and suggest that the system of registration must be defective, as regards the boat population.

With reference to the registration of the natural causes of death, Mr. McCALLUM refers us to the remarks made on this subject in a previous report. In 1896 he drew attention to the entire want of medical aid for the Chinese population as "a great sanitary defect in public as well as in private sanitation." As regards public sanitation it was pointed out that without medical assistance there was no reliable means of ascertaining the amount of disease or nature of the sickness prevailing among the people, and the real causes of death were practically unknown. The employment of a staff of respectable Chinese medical practitioners, who had received more or less of a training in English medicine, was accordingly suggested, European doctors being of course too expensive. At that time Mr. McCALLUM recommended for this purpose the students who had undergone a three years' course of training in the Canton Missionary Hospital. In his report for 1890 he said: "Should it now be considered wise to adopt the suggestion to institute a Chinese medical service, the students completing their studies at the Alicia Memorial Hospital will soon be ready for such a service and with proper supervision could, I think, be made very useful." In the report for last year the matter is once more referred to and regret is expressed that there has been no improvement, "for it may, possibly, lead to the expenditure of a considerable sum of money in organizing hurriedly a temporary medical service to meet as far as possible the requirements of the Colony should it be visited by cholera or other violent communicable disease and should such disease assume the proportions of an epidemic throughout the Colony." The present period of rigorous restraint in the Colony's expenditure is perhaps not a favourable one in which to urge any scheme involving an additional demonstrative chest, but the importance of providing relatively skilled medical attendance for such of the natives as may be willing to avail themselves of it and of securing correct registration of the causes of death must be recognized by every one.
This would be obtained by appointing a district registrar, with liberty to practise amongst their own countrymen, Chinese who have had a scientific training in Western medicine.

The M. M. steamer McCallum left Saigon at 2 p.m. yesterday for this port.
The steamer Catherine arrived last night for this port on Saturday afternoon.

The M. M. steamer Solana, with the homeward bound mail, left Shanghai at noon on Saturday.

The Governor has given his assent in the name and on behalf of the Queen to the Piers and Wharves Ordinance.

The D.D.R. steamer Bellona, from Hamburg, left Singapore on Friday at 4 p.m. and may be expected here on or about the 20th inst.

The China Mutual steamer Peking, from London and Liverpool, passed the land on the 14th inst., and may be considered due at Singapore on or about the 2nd May.

The E. & A. steamer Menara, which arrived on Saturday night from Sydney, has brought her cargo a fine lot of seeds and oil, and large lots in pearl shell, candlewood, and lead.

It is notified in the Gazette that Her Majesty has not been advised to exercise her powers of discretion with respect to the L. O. Ordinance which Ordinance to amend the Marriage Ordinance.

The stamp revenue during the first quarter of the present year was $41,335, against $44,100 in the corresponding quarter of last year. The falling off is more than accounted for in the increase of stamps, in which the decline was $3,085.

A proclamation is published in the Gazette giving effect to a new table of rates of postage.
The only alterations from the old table seem to be the inclusion of a few places in Africa not mentioned previously.

During the month of March there were 13 deaths amongst the civil action of the British and Foreign community and 1 in the army, and 401 amongst the Chinese. The death rate for the former was 22.2 and for the latter 21.6.

It is notified in the Gazette that on the basis of the teacher's diploma examinations held in July and January the College of Preceptors in London have now declared Mr. W. Marshall, Assistant Master in Victoria College, entitled to a diploma as Associate of the College and qualified for admission to membership.

We take the following from the Northern Territory Times: "A southern paper speaks of a mother and daughter who were glibly talking about the epidemic at Sydney with joyous prophets that they are now in the grip of the disease. This, it is stated, is a startling proof, if it is true, that the epidemic is generally regarded as a disease which takes years to display itself."

On Friday evening a sampan lying alongside the F. & O. steamer Verona was boarded by four persons, two of whom were armed with revolvers and shot the other two. The sampan was then set on fire and the two men who were shot were taken to the hospital. The steamer was then set on fire and the two men who were shot were taken to the hospital.

The Manila Chamber of Commerce issues a journal which, in its number for last month, contains an article on Customs shortcomings in that port. It is found that the Customs regulation that the baggage of passengers for ex-travelling purposes should be examined, and attention to the excessive importation of the Customs authorities with regard to the carriage of goods which is a serious evil not trading business. Such regulations have cost the Government there several thousands of dollars. One, for instance, a vessel, laden with goods, was detained at Manila for several days, and the goods were then taken to the Customs and the vessel was then set on fire and the goods were taken to the hospital.
